Tobacco growers plan for market

By JAMES A. SMITH
Extension Agent

The Dark Fire Cured Tobacco Market opens December 6 for three weeks. Many tobacco growers have tobacco down and are preparing it for market. Because of the summer's drought the quality of the '83 crop is lower.

Riley Mecginson has been elected to the Board of Directors, Dark Tobacco Sales Corporation. Riley replaces Jack Martin in this important leadership role.

What about firewood cutting and landowner liability? We have a publication that outlines this concern.

The Code of Virginia, has been amended several times, and gives direction and resolves confusing aspects concerning landowner liability.

A simplistic summary would say the forest landowner is not liable for persons given permission to cut or gather firewood on his property except under the following conditions: 1. The firewood is intended for resale, rather than personal use. 2. The landowner is not grossly negligent or willfully or maliciously does not warn persons of existing dangers.

If landowners want to "stay on the safe side", however they should make sure their liability insurance covers firewood gathering and cutting. For more details, refer to the publication "Firewood Cutting and Landowner Liability" from the Extension Office.

The Beef Cattle Profit Clinic was very popular last year and well attended. A similar program is set for this year December 8, Roanoke and December 15, Blackstone. Programs and reservation forms will be in mail in a few days.

The State Climatologist's report provides temperature and precipitation forecasts for December February.

For this area of the state much below normal temperatures and above normal precipitation is forecast. This combination means more snow than usual.

When the forecast "much below normal" is used this is interpreted to mean colder than three-quarters of the winters of the twentieth century.

Last year the forecast was a colder than normal winter, which was obviously incorrect.

Peach trees need to be sprayed for Peach Leaf Curl after most of the leaves have fallen, but before hard freezing weather.

There are several spray materials that can be used: Ferbam or liquid lime sulfur or copper sulfate plus hydrate lime.

A 1983 survey of dairy herds in Virginia shows: only 48% of the herds strip fore-milk and only 10% use a strip cup. Fore-milk stripping has been shown to reduce the level of udder infections. The 242 herds in the survey were divided into four groups by somatic cell counts. The lowest 60 herds were below 180,000 and averaged 16,012 pounds milk. Debt load on the lower group was about $400 less than the debt load of any of the other three groups.

On October 1, cattle and calves on feed for slaughter was down 4 percent, but 3 percent above 1981.

A sheep production meeting is scheduled for Thursday evening, November 17, at the Lynchburg Extension Office. A hosted dinner is being prepared-please call it you are interested in attending.

A small number have indicated that they would like to become certified as Private pesticide Applicators.

If you have allowed your certification to expire you must start over by taking the core test. For those that have never been certified, this is your opportunity. If you have not notified us, but would like to be certified, please call 352-8244 and let us know you are interested by November 18.

There is a job opportunity as Dairy Herd Improvement Supervisor effective January 1, 1984. The applicant needs to be a high school graduate, have a good knowledge of math and have or be able to develop a good relationship with dairymen.

The work would require 15 to 20 days a month.

Conservation importance is stressed

By TOM CONRAD

1984 Farm Programs to Have Acreage Conservation Reserve - Starting with the 1984 crop year, cropland removed from production to satisfy farm program acreage reduction requirements will be known as Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR).

The goal in 1984 is to encourage farmers to continue the very important conservation practice of placing their more erosive land into an acreage conservation reserve, while balancing supply with demand. This is a way in which farmers can control over-abundant supply situations similar to what they have just faced. The programs will also provide a degree of insurance for farmers against price fluctuations and adverse weather conditions.

The 1984 acreage reduction program will require farmers to reduce their wheat planted acreage by 30 percent and their feed grain acres by 10 percent of the established base to qualify for deficiency payments and crop loans. Wheat program participants who divert an additional 10 to 20 percent of their wheat acres will be eligible for payment-in-kind (PIK).

Farmers who participate in the 1984 wheat program must limit their planted acreage to no more than 70 percent of the farm's wheat base and devote to ACR eligible cropland equal to the PIK acreage plus 42.86 percent of their total planted and PIK acreages. Feed grain program participants must limit corn, sorghum, oats and barley acreage planted for harvest to not more than 90 percent of the farm's feed grain base and devote eligible cropland equal to 11.11 percent of the 1984 planted acreage to ACR.

Land designated for the acreage conservation reserve must have been devoted to row crops or small grains in two of the last three years except for a summer fallow farm. Under summer fallow rules, the land must be acreage that would have been planted to a small grain or row crop in 1984 in the absence of the feed grain and wheat programs.

Haying will not be permitted on ACR acres. However, the acreage may be grazed except during the six principal growing months.

Farmers will have the opportunity to sign up for the 1984 feed grain and wheat acreage reduction program from January 16 through february 24.

With the onset of hunting season we urge each family to use extreme care in the handling of firearms. Young hunters should be made aware of basic safety rules when handling and using firearms in the field. An excellent Extension publication that may be of interest to sportsmen is called "Deer Processing for the Sportsman." It covers field dressing, aging and cutting and wrapping venison. Also included are recipes. The publication is available from the Appomattox Extension Office.

Fund-raising continues for 4-H project

By OCIE M. MACK
Extension Agent

The Appomattox County Extension Staff is continuing to seek community support for the Holiday Lake 4-H Educational Center fund-raising project.

Individuals can support this project by donating tickets for three prizes that will be given away Dec. 20, 1983. One does not have to be present to win.

Featured this month is the 10-speed bike (girl's or boy's) which was contributed by Sears Catalog Merchants and Jim Nolen Associates, Inc. The two other prizes that will be given away on the same date are a 1984 Red Chevette, 2 door, and a microwave oven.

The purpose of this project is to secure funds to be used in the renovation of the existing facilities and development of new facilities of the Holiday Lake 4-H Educational Center.

Tickets are available at the following places: Sears Catalog Merchants (Triangle Plaza); Jim Nolen Associates, Inc. (Triangle Plaza - Lower Level); Appomattox Hardware Company, Inc.; Moses Motor Company, Inc.; District Extension Office (next door to Post Office); County Extension Office (next door to Department of Social Services); or, from one of the following members of the Appomattox County 4-H Educational Center Fund Raising Committee–Mrs. Mary Lou Harrison, Mrs. Tawanna Lee, Mr. Scott Dawson, Mr. Jim Nolen, Mrs. Harriett James, Darrell Conner. Mr. Mike Hancock. Dr. Ken Powell.

On Nov. 24, Promise Land Baptist Church will have its annual Thanksgiving Day Prayer Service at 11 a.m. Let us remember all of the things that we have to be thankful for and let us remember those persons less fortunate than us.

Special prayers go out for the sick and shut-in. We are glad to hear that Aquita Hancock has returned from the hospital and is doing better. Mrs. Margaret Forrest is in Lynchburg General Hospital receiving special treatment.

A FILMED TOUR OF HAWAII

with farm and ranch visits!

In this fast-paced film we will tour three beautiful islands with a group of friendly, fun-loving farm and ranch folks.

Unusual farm and ranch visits include a pineapple and a banana plantation, plus a profitable farm inside the city limits of bustling Honolulu! You'll also see "aquaculture"... the raising of prawns and catfish.

Some of America's most scenic cattle ranches will be visited, including the legendary Parker Ranch, where 50,000 head of cattle roam 250,000 acres from sea level to elevations up to 4,000 feet.

We'll see historic Pearl Harbor, the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, picturesque Old Town, Waikiki Beach, Diamond Head, the Polynesian Cultural Center, world-class resort hotels, excellent entertainment and the delicious foods of the islands.

Included too are magnificent mountain ranges, sun-kissed beaches and exotic and colorful tropical plants and flowers.

This travel film could be a preview of things to come for you. Come see, then decide!

Have a nice week.

Longwood presents Christmas play

A musical adaptation of A CHRISTMAS CAROL, Charles Dickens' classic story for the season, will be presented on the stage of Longwood College's Jarman Auditorium on Monday evening, Nov. 28, at 8 o'clock.

The presentation is part of Longwood's Series of the Performing Arts. Tickets ($6.50) are now on sale in the Student Union Office, Lankford Building. The program is expected to be a very popular one, so securing tickets in advance is recommended.

The story of the metamorphosis of the skinflint Scrooge, written 140 years ago, is still changing "bah, humbug" attitudes. This musical version of the ageless story offers holiday-spirit entertainment for the whole family.

Adapted for the stage by Charles Jones, the production is presented by a 35-member touring company. The cast includes the familiar characters -- Scrooge; the apparition of Jacob Marley; the ghosts of Christmas past, present, and future; Bob Cratchit; and Tiny Tim. They are joined by singers, dancers and a small instrumental ensemble, performing traditional English carols in the streets or at fireside.

The set for the production has been described as "a re-creation of Dickens' city which looks like a turn-of-the-century Christmas card." There are spectacular costumes and special effects that make the ghosts and other supernatural happenings memorable.

The production has toured throughout the U.S., with more than 500 performances.
